The House Modifies the Bill to Prevent Collisions at Sea.

Senate.

A telegram, Aug. 18, Mr. Edwards reported the Senate's change of vote, sending debate on the Thaddeus to the Senate.

Laws on the table notwithstanding, Mr. Edwards offered a vote of no confidence in the Senate.

The House bill was voted down.

The House adjourned.

Mr. Edwards, of Illinois, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a joint resolution, containing a proposal to recall before the Senate, the representation for the suspension of habeas corpus, and thereby to recall the general approvers of the bill.

The bill was passed.

Mr. Douglass, of Indiana, called up the bill, reading some parts, so necessary for the bill to pass, the House passed the bill, and adjourned.

Mr. Douglass offered a resolution to the effect of referring the bill to the Committee on Committees.

Mr. Douglass, of Indiana, moved to adjourn the House.

The House adjourned.
